

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This fascicle of PAM covers the excavation and restoration projects conducted in 1992. All have been in progress for years, but most could not be continued now without the financial backing from several institutions.

The Egyptian Antiquities Organization has, as in the past, generously supported the joint restoration missions at Kom el-Dikka in Alexandria, at Marina el-Alamein, in the Qurqumas and Inal memorial mosques in Cairo, at Tell Atrib. We are able in this way to consolidate, and often restore, the monuments previously unearthed by our teams.

We are greatly indebted to the Polish Committee for Scientific Research (KBN) and personally to its President Professor Witold Karzewski and to Professor Henryk Samsonowicz, Head of the Section for Humanities. This recently founded body has taken in charge the totality of costs involved in the maintenance of our Centre in Cairo, as well as all expenses, including travel, occasioned by the archaeological missions in Alexandria, at Deir el-Bahari (temples of Hatshepsut and of Thutmose IIIrd), in Palmyra (Syria) and Nea Paphos (Cyprus). Without this generosity, our work this year would be curtailed to a very serious extent. Last, but not least, the publication of the present bulletin was also financed from the same source.

We have been also gratified with a very special largesse. The Foundation for Polish Science has decided to fund the purchase of a house in Cairo for a permanent seat of the Centre. This decision settled us at last, after 35 years, on a firm ground. Dr Jan Krzysztof Frąckowiak, then President of the Foundation, and Mrs Małgorzata Kozłowska, Undersecretary of State at the Ministry of Education, were both most helpful in this undertaking.

To all our benefactors we extend warmest thanks for their imaginative and spirited help in the name of all scholars concerned now and in the future. We hope that they will not disappoint the expectations placed in them.

The Editors